Livestock Project Success!

This past May, TH purchased a new Billy goat to produce higher quality of kids. Celestine holds the first offspring below.

We started with 40 goats in January 2009 and now there are 121 goats.

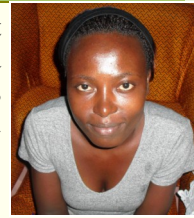

By January 2012 this project should be income generating and self-sustaining.

Amanda Kudron: Think Humanity wishes to thank Amanda for all that she contributed while in Uganda.

She stayed at the Girls' Hostel for two weeks (a first for a visitor) and through that she shared the challenges that these girls are facing each day.

TH purchases medication through a joint medical store and nurse Jane Nabakooza orders, prescribes medication and keeps records. She assists the girls at the Hoima Hostel. Azur Clinic will be used for laboratory work and more complicated cases.

3,000 Long-Lasting Insecticide-Treated Bed Nets were given to the entire Acholi Quarter Camp for Internally Displaced Persons on July 14-15, 2010. Those that benefited are Acholi and Bugandans.

Thank you Global Healing and Red Empress for donating bed nets for this community of refugees. Ayo Jennifer, AIDS counselor said, "The family is going to live longer and longer because no more malaria. We have kicked malaria out of Uganda."

The Acholi Quarter Camp is made up of mostly women and children. The World Health Organization recommends the Olyset Nets, the nets TH provided to the IDP.

Students at the COBURWAS Learning Centre had exams while we visited.

For middle class on the Term II exams were questions like, matching sounds and writing letters "a" through "h."

School supplies are always needed. There are 97 students and each will need drawing pads, pencils, crayons and coloring books.

For example we can purchase 60 drawing pads in Uganda with a $15 donation.

Think Humanity wishes to thank Joe Bergholz, Jim Heckel, Emmanuel Nsabimana, Wereje Benson, Amani Jean-Paul, Daniel Muhwezi, Nteziyaremye Jonas, Jimmy Kanizius, Bagisha John, Amanda Kudron, Peter, Esther, and others for the hard work involved to make MaN-date 9, bed net distribution, a big success.

Thanks to those that recently sponsored these children at the Coburwas Learning Centre

Thank you Brevard Jewish Community Pre-school for the donation of the swing set. What a wonderful gift to the children of Kyangwali.

Think Humanity brought back recycled paper beaded jewelry, artwork, handmade purses and baskets made by the women in the Acholi Quarter Camp. Your purchases will allow us to help refugees in both IDP and UNHCR camps. Fundraising events will be coming up so please watch the website for more details or offer to hold a fundraising party in your home and invite your friends.

TH donated two sewing machines to the women in the IDP.
